

OSAKA CITY UNIVERSITY BANGKOK OFFICE

c/o Faculty of Fine and Applied Arts, Chulalongkorn University Phayathai, Pathumwan District, Bangkok 10330, Thailand
ocu.bkk@gmail.com <http://www.ocubkk.faa.chula.ac.th>

Introduction

Osaka City University (OCU), the first municipal university to be established in Japan, celebrated its 135th anniversary in 2015. It is comprised of eight faculties and ten graduate schools.

– Business, Economics, Law, Literature and Human Sciences, Science, Engineering, Medicine, Nursing, Human Life Science, and Creative Cities –

In all of its faculties emphasis is placed on small-group tutorials and seminars, so teaching staff is easily approachable and students can freely lay down their questions. Additionally, as an urban-based university, OCU has a special university-wide interest in study and research of issues that cities in general, and Osaka in specific, are facing.

Major activities

With the 2015 creation of the ASEAN Economic Community, Osaka City University wants to participate by welcoming more students from South-East Asia as it will heighten the awareness of the role of this region among Japanese students and educators while also further diversifying its campus. The Osaka City University's Bangkok office (OCU-BKK) will provide a central base for organizing and supporting recruitment and exchange activities.

